

Highlights:

- Traces of past plant and microbial life detected in hyperarid Atacama Desert soils
- Higher microbial diversity and abundance at more humid sites / higher elevation
- Bacterial and plant-derived lipid biomarkers follow aridity gradient
- No consistent patterns of soil properties or biomolecules with soil depth